Power to make regulations with retrospective effect.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Navy Act, 1957 which was brought into force with effect from the 1st January, 1958 was last amended in 1974. In the light of the experience gained from the administration of the Act, it is proposed to make certain further amendments in that Act to avoid scope for some difficulties which have been experienced and to remove certain deficiencies therein.

- 2. The more important amendments proposed to be made are as follows:—
  - (1) A new cadre, namely, master chief petty officers, was introduced in the Navy in 1968. It has been noticed in some cases of offences by master chief petty officers that while the offences were not of a sufficiently serious nature to justify trial by court-martial, the alternative method of dealing with such offences by awarding summary punishments was not adequate. It is, therefore, proposed to include in the category of summary punishments which may be awarded to these officers more serious punishments by way of forfeiture of seniority for a period of not more than twelve months and forfeiture of time for purposes of promotion for a period of not more than twelve months [vide clause 3(a), (b) and clause 4(b), (c)].
  - (2) Section 84 of the Army Act, 1950 and section 86 of the Air Force Act, 1950 contain provision for summary trial of officers below the rank of Lt. Colonel and Squadron Leader respectively, whilst section 94 of the Navy Act, 1957 contains provision for summary trial of only subordinate officers. With the expansion of the Navy, and keeping in view the institution of full-fledged commands and the upgradation of the officers holding command, it is felt that it is appropriate now to bring the provisions of the said section 94 of the Navy Act into conformity with the corresponding provisions of the Army and Air Force Acts. Section 94 is accordingly being amended to provide for summary trial of officers below the rank of commander [vide clause 5].
  - (3) A new section 184A is proposed to be inserted to enable the making of beneficial regulations with retrospective effect. This power is basically intended to be availed of for regularising benefits conferred by executive orders. The relevant provision is on the lines of similar provisions contained in other enactments, such as the All-India Services Act, 1951, and is also in accordance with the recommendations of the Committees of Parliament on Subordinate Legislation [vide clause 11].
- 3. The other changes proposed in the Bill are for substituting the references to the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 by references to the new Code of 1973 and for making certain other changes of a minor or consequential nature.
  - 4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

New Delhi; The 17th February, 1982.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 5(b) of the Bill seeks to amend section 94 of the Navy Act, 1957 so as to insert sub-section (2A) therein. The new sub-section is for providing that the Flag Officer Commanding-in-Chief of a naval command may impose certain punishments on any officer below the rank of commander subject to regulations which may be made in that behalf.

Clause 11 of the Bill seeks to insert new section 184A in the aforesaid Act so as to empower the Central Government to make regulations with retrospective effect from a date not earlier than the date of commencement of the Act. This power is basically intended to be availed of for regularising the benefits conferred by executive orders. Further it has been made clear that this power cannot be exercised so as to prejudicially affect the interests of any person who may be governed by the regulations. In the circumstances, the delegation of legislative power is of a normal character.
